Welcome from the Dean

It is wonderful once again to be able to offer services in Chapel, and I look forward to welcoming members of the public and the wider University to join us as Term continues. All those attending, other than current members of King’s, need to book their place in advance, and this can easily be done — without any charge — through Eventbrite, either by using the QR code on page 3, or through the College website via the link below. If none of that works for you, please call into the King’s College Visitor Centre on King’s Parade and book in-person. We ask all who attend services to wear face-coverings. If you could have a lateral-flow test before joining us, that would be much appreciated.

At the beginning of Term, we welcomed our new Chaplain, The Revd Doctor Mary Kells. Mary comes to us after a curacy in Portsmouth and, as is fitting, has a number of naval connections; her husband, The Revd Alastair Mansfield, is a Royal Navy Chaplain and will be preaching for us on Remembrance Sunday. Mary grew up in Northern Ireland and has had a varied career, including work as diverse as mental-health advocacy and garden design. Born and bred in Northern Ireland, her academic background is in social anthropology, as well as in theology.

All Souls’ Day, 2 November, marks the one-hundredth anniversary of the dedication of the All Souls’ Chapel on the south-eastern side of Chapel. In this Chapel are listed the names of those members of College and Staff who died in the major wars of the twentieth century. Whilst ‘Remembrance Day’ as a concept did not exist until after the Second World War, the College and its then Dean, Eric Milner-White, who was an Army Chaplain in the First World War, chose All Souls’ Day 1921 — notably not Armistice Day — to dedicate this War Memorial Chapel. The choice of All Souls’ Day fits in with Milner-White’s approach to his wartime chaplaincy which so irritated the church authorities: namely, that he allowed, lead and encouraged prayer for the dead, which was deemed taboo in Protestant circles then, and still is in some now. The other way he annoyed them was by seeing the need for more imaginative services, of which A Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols is by far the most famous. We will mark All Souls’ Day with a sung Requiem Mass of Latin plainsong, sung by the choral scholars, and by reading out the names of members of our community and our loved ones who have died over the last twelve months.

We are intending to offer our normal Advent and Christmas services; details about attending these will be made available on the College website by noon on Tuesday 16 November.

INTRODUCTORY NOTICES

ORGAN RECITALS

As always, the Director of Music and organ scholars contribute to the termly recital series. This term we will have four recitals, given on Saturdays after Evensong at fortnightly intervals. Alongside Daniel Hyde and Paul Greally, we welcome two other Cambridge residents to perform this term: Matthew Martin came to Gonville and Caius College as Precentor in April 2020, just in time for the onset of Covid; Anne Page is no stranger to King’s, nor to the wider Cambridge organ scene.

MUSIC

As we further our ambition to return to normal, this term the Choir will perform in their ‘usual’ formation, having spent the whole of last year spread-out and distanced from one another. Service music is deliberately chosen to be straight-forward as we rebuild and refresh our repertoire post-Covid.

We eagerly anticipate a concert with the Academy of Ancient Music on 3 November, as part of the Cambridge Music Festival. A few weeks later, we will reinstate our tradition of offering a liturgical performance of Fauré’s Requiem, with instrumental accompaniment, on the evening of Remembrance Sunday.

King’s Voices makes a welcome return to their place in the musical life of the Chapel, singing Evensong on Wednesdays during Full Term.

BECOMING A MEMBER OF THE CHOIR

If you know a boy in school-year 2, 3 or 4 who likes singing and enjoys music, please consider contacting the Choir Office to learn about becoming a chorister here, at choir@kings.cam.ac.uk or on +44 (0)1223 331224.

Chorister auditions are usually held in January and September, but we warmly welcome enquiries, and the opportunity to meet those who might be interested, at any time.

Prospective choral and organ scholars are encouraged to contact the Choir Office at any time to arrange an informal meeting with me; our team will be happy to answer any questions they may have.
