MUSIC

The music of Stanford and Howells is celebrated in Cambridge during the weekend of 15–16 October. King's welcomes members of the Stanford Society and of the Howells Society to Evensong and a special recital on Saturday 15 October, and again on the morning of Sunday 16 October, when Communion will be celebrated according to the rite of the Book of Common Prayer, to provide a framework for what may be the first liturgical performance of An English Mass by Howells. Players and singers will be drawn from CUCO, CUMS and King's Voices.

Two more British composers will be specially featured later in the term. On Saturday 22 October David Briggs, who was organ scholar here from 1981–84, will play his own transcription of Elgar's Symphony No. 2. On Saturday 29 October Robin Morrish, choral scholar from 1956–59, brings his Medway Trio to perform instead of the usual organ recital, and on Wednesday 9 November Andrew Kennedy, choral scholar from 1995–98, sings the title role in Britten's St Nicolas. The Britten Sinfonia joins the Chapel Choir and the Choir of Sawston Village College on this occasion. There is a memorial service on Saturday 5 November at 2.30 p.m. for Robert Tear, former choral scholar and Honorary Fellow.

At the traditional Remembrance Sunday Requiem (Sunday 13 November at 6.00 p.m.) Fauré's Requiem is sung with orchestral accompaniment.

ILLUSTRATIONS

This term's 'Angel' illustrations are reproduced from photographs taken by Richard Lloyd Morgan.
